Makkan: 54 'âyahs

This is an early Makkan sûrah which deals with the fundamentals of the faith, namely, tawḥîd (monotheism), the Prophethood of Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, Resurrection and Judgement. These themes are brought home by various arguments and reference is made to Prophets Dâ'ud and Sulaymân, peace be on them, on whom Allah had bestowed especial favours. Reference is made also to the people of Saba' (Sheba, in Yaman) to whom Allah had given peace and prosperity together with a thriving agriculture but they turned ungrateful and their prosperity and agriculture were destroyed by the bursting of the Dam of Ma'ârib. The sûrah is named after this incident.

36. SÛRAT YÂ-SÎN

Makkan: 83 'âyahs

This is a Makkan sûrah which deals with the fundamentals of the faith, namely, tawhîd (monotheism), the truth of wahy and the Prophethood of Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, Resurrection, Judgement, reward and punishment. It starts with an oath by the Qur'ân that Muhammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, is indeed a Messenger of Allah and that the Qur'ân is indeed sent down by the All-Mighty, the All-Wise. It then refers to the unbelief and opposition of the Makkans and in this context mention is made of the inhabitants of a township (qaryah) who disbelieved the Messengers sent to them. Attention is then drawn to Allah's creation of the universe and the various aspects of nature like the sky, the stars, the sun, the fortnightly course of the moon, the night and day each succeeding and merging into the other and the running of ships on the seas by way of illustrating the Power (qudrah) of Allah and His Absolute Oneness. Emphasis is then laid on the truth of Resurrection, Judgement, punishment and reward.

The sûrah is named Yâ-Sîn after the disjointed letters with which it starts and which is one of the miracles of the Qur'ân. This sûrah is regarded as the "heart" (qalb) of the Qur'ân and it is recommended that every Muslim should get it by heart.

This is also an early Makkan sûrah which, like the other Makkan sûrahs, deals with tawḥîd (monotheism), waḥy, Resurrection, Judgement, reward and punishment. It starts with an oath by the angels who line up in prayers and in obeying Allah's commands. Reference is next made to the rebellious Satan and the unbelievers' doubts about the Resurrection and their persistence in polytheism. Mention is then made of the punishment and despicable life of the unbelievers in the hereafter and, in contrast, the reward and honourable life of the believers. Emphasis is then made on the fact that Allah has sent Messengers from time to time to guide mankind to the truth and the worship of Allah Alone; and mention is made in this connection of Prophets Nûḥ, Ibrâhîm and his sacrificing his son Ismâ'îl in obedience to Allah's command, Isḥâq, Mûsâ and Hârûn, Ilyâs, Lûṭ and Yûnus, peace be on them all. It ends with an emphasis again on tawḥîd and the polytheists' persistence in setting partners with Allah and their mistaken notion of jinn being Allah's daughters.

The sûrah is named after the oath by the angels who line up (al-ṣâffât) with which it starts.

38. Sûrat Ṣâd

Makkan: 88 'âyahs

This is also an early Makkan sûrah which, like the other Makkan sûrahs, deals with the fundamentals of the faith — tawḥîd (montheism), the truth of the Qur'ân and the Prophethood of Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, Resurrection, Judgement and life in the hereafter. It starts by emphazing that the Qur'ân is truly a Book sent down by Allah and then refers to the amazement of the unbelievers of Makka at the coming of a Messenger of Allah from among them and at the concept of One Only God instead of a multilicity of deities to which they had been used to. It then makes mention, by way of warning the unbelievers, of what befell the previously unbelieving nations of Allah's retribution. In this context it mentions the stories of some of previous Messengers of Allah, like Dâûd, Sulayman, Ayyûb, Isḥaq, Ya'qûb, Ismâ'îl and Dhû al-Kifl, peace be on them, and the trials and tribulations they had to undergo, by way of consoling the Prophet, peace and blessings of Allah be on him. Along with these the sûrah points to some of the wonderful aspects of this unverse by way of bringing home the theme of the Absolute Oneness of Allah.

The sûrah is named Ṣâd after the disjointed letter with which it starts and which is one of the miracles of the Qur'ân.

39. Sûrat al-Zumar (the Groups)

Makkan: 75 'âyahs

This is a Makkan sûrah which, like the other Makkan sûrahs, deals with the fundamentals of the faith, particularly the truth of the Qur'ân and the Prophethood of Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, monotheism, Resurrection, Judgement, reward and punishment. It starts with an emphasis on the fact that Allah has sent down the Qur'ân and that He is exclusively entitled to worship and devotion. Attention is then drawn to His creation of the heavens and the earth, the subjection of the sun and the moon to order, the making of night and day and, above all, the creation and development of man in the mother's womb and the provisions for his sustenance, all of which point to Allah's Absolute Lordship (rubûbîyah and exclusive entitlement to worship ('ulûhîyah). Yet man becomes ungrateful and sets partners with Allah. The sin of setting partners with Allah (shirk) is pointed out and it is emphasized that it has been communicated through all the Prophets that if you set partners with Allah all your deeds will be in vain and you will certainly be among the losers in the hereafter ('âyah 65). But it is never too late to repent and to seek Allah's forgiveness and mercy. Never be despaired of Allah's forgiveness and mercy ('âyah 53). In this context the facts of Resurrection, Judgement, reward and punishment are mentioned. The sûrah ends by pointing out how the unbelievers and sinful will be led in groups (zumar) to hell and how the believers and the righteous will be led in groups to paradise and welcomed there. The sûrah is named al-zumar (The Groups) after these concluding 'âyahs.

40. Sûrat Ghâfir/Al-Mu'min (THE FORGIVER/THE BELIEVER)

Makkan: 85 'âyahs

This is a Makkan sûrah. It deals with the fundamentals of the faith, namely, the truth of the Qur'ân, tawḥîd (monotheism), Resurrection, Judgement, reward and punishment. It starts with an emphasis that this Qur'ân has been sent down by Allah the All-Mighty, the All-Knowing and the Forgiver of sins. It then points out that none but the unbelievers dispute about the truth sent down by Allah and that the previous nations similarly disbelieved the truth delivered by their respective Messengers . In this context the story of Fir'aun's [the Pharaoh's] rejection of the message delivered by Mûsa, peace be on him, is related with particular reference to a believer among Fir'aun's people who tried to persuade them to accept the truth and was in consequence the target of the Pharaoh's plot and persecution; but Allah protected him and caused the destruction of Fir'aun and his unbelieving followers. The sûrah also refers to some of the scenes of the Day of Judgement and concludes by drawing attention to Allah's making provision for His creation in various ways.

The sûrah is named Ghâfir (Forgiver) by which Allah refers to Himself at its beginning. It is also called al-Mu'min (the Believer) with reference to the story of the believer among Fir'aun's family which the sûrah describes.

41. Sûrat Fuṣṣilat (Elucidated)
[Also called Ḥâ-Mîm al-Sajdah]
Makkan: 54 'âyahs

This is another Makkan sûrah which, like the other Makkan sûrahs deals with the fundamentals of the faith — tawḥîd (monotheism), Prophethood of Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, the truth of the Qur'ân, Resurrection, reward and punishment. It starts with an emphasis that the Qur'ân has been sent down by Allah and that its 'âyahs are elucidated and set out in detail. It then refers to the attitude of the unbelievers and draws attention to Allah's creation of the heavens and the earth by way of bringing home the theme of monotheism ; and to the fate of the Thamûd and 'Âd peoples who, despite their being the most powerful nations of the time, met with destruction and ruin because of their unbelief and rejection of the truth. It then points out that on the Day of Judgement the eyes, ears and skins of the sinful will bear testimony against them because Allah will enable these to speak out. This is followed by an indication of the fate and position that await the righteous and the believers . The sûrah ends by pointing out that Allah will show men His signs in the universe and in themselves and will prove that the Qur'ân is the truth ('âyah 53).

The sûrah is named Fuṣṣilat (Elucidated) after its second 'âyah which states that the 'âyahs of the Qur'ân have been elucidated and set out in detail. It is also called Ḥâ-Mîm al-Sajdah because it starts with the disjointed letters Ḥâ-Mîm, the expression al-Sajdah being added to distinguish it from the other sûrahs that have the same disjointed letters at their respective beginnings.

42. SÛRAT AL-SHÛRÂ (CONSULTATION)
Makkan: 53 'âyahs

This is a Makkan sûrah which deals with the fundamentals of the faith, namely, monotheism, the truth of waḥy and risâlah (Messengership of Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him) Resurrection, Judgement, reward and punishment. It starts with an emphasis that Allah sent waḥy to the Prophet Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, as He had sent waḥy to the previous Prophets and that it is the same message of monotheism and Islam which had been delivered through all the Prophets. It then draws attention to the Absolute Oneness and Uniqueness of Allah – "There is not the like of Him anything "('âyah 11) and that to Him belongs the keys of the heavens and the earth. This theme of monotheism is further illustrated with reference to His favours and graces upon His creation and His signs visible throughout the universe. The facts of Resurrection, Judgement, reward and punishment are reiterated and man is called upon to respond to Allah's message before the coming of the day when there will be neither any defence against it nor any refuge from it. The sûrah ends by indicating the nature of Allah's communication to His Prophets and Messengers: "It is not for any human being that Allah should speak to him except by wahy, or from behind a veil or by sending a messenger (an angel) who communicates by His leave what He wills." ('âyah 51).

The sûrah is called al-shûrâ (consultation) with reference to its 'âyah 38 wherein Muslims are required to conduct their affairs by mutual consultation.

43: SÛRAT AL-ZUKHRUF (THE ORNAMENT)
Makkan: 89 'âyahs

This is another Makkan sûrah which, like the other Makkan sûrahs, deals with the fundamentals of the faith — tawḥîd (monotheism), waḥy and the truth of the Qur'ân, risâlah (Messengership of Muhammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him), Resurrection, Judgement, reward and punishment. It starts with an emphasis that Allah has sent down the Qur'ân and it is preserved in the Mother of the Book (al-Lawḥ al-maḥfûẓ). It is then pointed out that Allah created the heavens and the earth and all things and beings that exist. It is He Who has created the pairs in all living beings and it is He Who provides for all; and we all have to return to Him. Yet man sets partners with Him and attributes sons and daughters to Him. The sûrah particularly dispels the wrong notion of the pre-Islamic Arabs that the angels were Allah's daughters. Similarly polytheism and the worship of idols are disapproved and it is emphasized that Prophet Ibrâhîm, whom the Arabs considered as their progenitor, preached against the worship of idols and the objects of nature. It also gives a reply to the misgivings of the then Arabs as to why the Qur'ân was not sent down on someone wealthy and influential among them. It is pointed out that worldly wealth, power and grandeur are not the criteria for greatness and righteousness in the sight of Allah and that He selects for His special favour of Messengership whomsoever He wills. Also the unreasonableness of the unbelievers' opposition to the truth of the Qur'ân is illustrated by a reference to the story of Fir'aun and Mûsa, peace be on him. The fallacy of worshipping 'Îsâ, peace be on him, as a god is also mentioned and it is pointed out that he was only a chosen servant of Allah. Towards the end of the sûrah mention is made of some aspects of the respective positions of the believers and the unbelievers in the hereafter. The sûrah is named al-zukhruf (The ornament) with reference to its 'âyah 35 which points out that the ornament of this worldly life is only temporary while the life of the hereafter is permanent for the godfearing (muttaqîn).

Makkan: 59 'âyahs

This is another Makkan Sûrah which deals with the fundamentals of the faith, namely, tawḥîd (montheism), the truth of the Qur'ân and risâlah (Messengership of Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him), Resurrection, Judgement, reward and punishment. It starts by emphasizing that Allah sent down the Qur'ân in a "Blessed Night" (i. e. laylat al-qadr) and that there is none worthy of worship except He and that He gives life and causes death and He is the Lord of all, present and past generations ('âyah 8). It then refers to the attitude of the polytheists and unbelievers to the Qur'ân and its message. In this context the story of the attitude of Fir'aun and his people to the truth delivered to them and their ultimate punishment by Allah is related. Reference is then made specially to the Makkan unbelievers' attitude to Resurrection and the life in the hereafter. The surâh ends by reiterating that Resurrection and the life in the hereafter are true and by pointing out the positions respectively of the sinful and the righteous therein.

The sûrah is named al-dukhân (the smoke) which is mentioned in its 'âyah 10 and which Allah sent as a therat and punishment for the unbelievers of Makka.

Makkan: 37 'âyahs

This is a Makkan sûrah (except its 'âyah 14 which is Madinan). It deals mainly with belief in Allah and His Absolute Oneness (tawḥîd) together with the themes of the truth of the Qur'ân, the Messengership of Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him), Resurrection, Judgement, reward and punishment. It starts by emphasizing that the sending down of the Qur'ân is from Allah and that the heavens, the earth, the creation of man and all other living and moving beings, the alternation of day and night, the sending down of the rain and the enlivening of the earth thereby, the movement of the air, and how Allah has reduced everything to service and to the benefit of His creatures, all point to their Creator and Lord Allah and His Powers. It then refers to the attitude of the unbelievers to the Qur'ân, its message and the Messenger, particularly their disbelief in Resurrection and the life after death. It then stresses that Resurrection is true and that everyone will be requited according to one's deeds. "Say, Allah gives life to you and will cause you to die, then He will gather you towards the Day of Judgement in which there is no doubt; but most men do not know... And you will see every nation bowing down on the knees (i. e., submitting — jâthiyah), and being called towards their record." ('âyahs 26-28). The sûrah is named al-jâthiyah with reference to these 'âyahs.

46. SÛRAT AL-AḤQÂF (THE WINDING SANDY TRACTS)

Makkan: 35 'âyahs

This is a Makkan sûrah which deals with tawḥîd (monotheism), risâlah (the Messengership of Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him), Resurrection, Judgement and requital. It starts by reiterating that the Qur'ân is sent down by Allah and by denouncing the worship of imaginary gods and goddesses in lieu of Allah. It then points out the attitude of the unbelievers to the Qur'ân and the Messenger of Allah, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, and gives appropriate replies to their assumptions. Along with these mention is made of the two types of human beings, one righteous and obedient to parents and the other not righteous and disobedient. The consequence of unbelief and rejection of the truth is then pointed by a mention of the punishment that awaits the unbelievers in the hereafter and of the punishment that was inflicted on the unbelieving 'Âd people of Prophet Hûd, peace be on him, who inhabited al-Aḥqâf, i. e., the winding sandy tracts of the eastern region of Yaman. The sûrah is named after this incident of the destruction of the 'Âd people.

This is a Madinan sûrah which was revealed shortly after the conclusion of the Treaty of al-Ḥudaybiyah in 6 Hijrî between the Prophet, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, and the Makkan leaders and which it calls "The Conspicuous Victory" (al-fatḥ al-mubîn) because it led in fact to the conquest of Makka and the acceptance of Islam by all its population. The sûrah is named with reference to this treaty. It also refers to the jihâd of the Muslims, particularly the Bay'at al-Riḍwân which took place before the conclusion of the treaty, whereby the Muslims pledged themselves to fight till death in the way of Allah. The sûrah refers also to the hypocrites and the Bedouin tribes who lagged behind and did not go out for jihâd and exposes their character. Further, it refers to the conquest of Khaybar, the dream of the Prophet, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, about the conquest of Makka and the entry of the Muslims therein in happiness and safety. The sûrah ends with an eulogy for the Prophet, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, and his companions, may Allah be pleased with them.

49. SÛRAT AL-ḤUJURÂT (The Chambers)
Madinan: 18 'âyahs

This is a Madinan sûrah. It is a short sûrah; but it is full of important rules of manners and etiquette. It starts by directing that no decision should be made nor any opinion on any matter be expressed in advance of Allah's and His Messenger's. Then it directs that Muslims should not carry on conversations in raised voices in the presence of the Messenger of Allah, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, and should address him with due respect and courtesy. Next it deals with a very important matter of social harmony and peace, namely, not to lend ear to gossips and rumours and to ascertain the truth before jumping to a conclusion on any information given by a person of doubtful integrity. It then directs the Muslims to settle their differences and quarrels mutually and reminds that they are brethren. Another equally important teaching given in the sûrah is that no group of people should ridicule another group of people, males or females, nor defame one another. Further it is advised not to surmise or entertain unnecessary suspicion about any matter, not to spy on or backbite anyone. It also emphasizes that races, tribes and nations are made by Allah so that they may know one another and that real honour and merit lie in righteousness and fear of Allah, not in birth, race or colour. The sûrah ends by indicating the qualities of a true believer and by stressing that the act of believing is for one's own benefit not a favour done to Allah and His Messenger.

The sûrah is called al-ḥujurât (The Chambers) with reference to its fifth 'âyah wherein Muslims were advised not to call the Messenger of Allah, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, from behind his dwelling chambers but to wait for him till he came out.

50. SÛRAT QÂF

Makkan: 45 'âyahs

This is a Makkan sûrah which, like the other Makkan sûrahs, deals with the fundamentals of the faith, namely, tawḥîd (monotheism), the Messengership (risâlah) of Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, Resurrection and the life after death. The main emphasis of the sûrah is, however, on Resurrection and the attitude of the unbelievers to it. It brings home this theme by referring to Allah's creation of the heavens and the earth and all that exists and also His providing for the creatures in various ways. In this connection reference is also made to what happened to the unbelieving nations of the past. It ends by mentioning some circumstances of death, Resurrection and the Day of Judgement.

The sûrah is named after the disjointed letter with which it starts.

This is an early Makkan sûrah. It deals with the fundamentals of the faith, mainly tawhîd (monotheism), Resurrection, Judgement and the life in the hereafter. In contrast the condition of the believers and the righteous is then mentioned. It then refers to the heavens and the earth and all that exist as signs of Allah's Power of creation and His Lordship and Absolute Oneness. In this context reference is made to some of the Messengers whom Allah had sent with the message of monotheism and worship of Allah Alone and how the previous nations had been destroyed because of their unbelief and persistent disobedience to Allah.

Makkan: 49 'âyahs

This is a Makkan sûrah which deals with the fundamentals of the faith, namely, tawḥîd, Resurrection, Judgement, rewards, punishment and the Messengership of Muhammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him.

It starts with an abjuration by five things emphasizing the inevitability of Resurrection and Judgement. Then it refers to the condition of the unbelievers in the hereafter and the punishment that awaits them. In contrast, the condition of the believers and the righteous, and the rewards that await them, are then mentioned. Next it speaks about the Messengership of Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, and gives appropriate replies to the assumptions and allegations of the unbelievers about it. The sûrah ends by denouncing the polytheists' worship of idols and imaginary gods and goddesses , their intransigence and the severity of their punishment in the hereafter.

The sûrah is named Al-Ṭur (The Mount Sinai), which was the scene of the receipt of Allah's revelation by Prophet Mûsâ, peace be on him, and with an abjuration by which the sûrah starts.

53. SÛRAT AL-NAJM (THE STAR)
Makkan: 62 'âyahs

This is a Makkan sûrah. It deals with waḥy, risâlah (Messengership of Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him), Resurrection, Judgement, rewards and punishment. It starts with an emphasis on the truth of the risâlah and that what Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, gave out was no utterance out of his own imagination but waḥy communicated to him by the angel Jibril. It is further emphasized that the Prophet, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, once saw this angel in his actual form appearing in the horizon and again during the mi'râj near sidrat al-muntahâ, which is the farthest point in the heaven up to which anything or being can reach.

Next the sûrah refers to the mistake and folly of worshipping the false and imaginary gods and goddesses and of the notion of Allah's having daughters or sons. It is stressed that Allah is the Creator of everything and being and His is the absolute sovereignty and Lordship over the heavens, the earth and all that exists. Mention is then made of the Resurrection and Judgement and that each person will be individually responsible and accountable for his deeds.

The sûrah is named al-Najm (The Star) with reference to its first 'âyah in which an adjuration is made by the star.

54. SÛRAT AL-QAMAR (THE MOON)

This is a Makkan sûrah which deals with the fundamentals of the faith, specially belief in the Resurrection, Judgement, rewards and punishments. It starts with a reference to the miracle of the splitting of the moon which Allah caused to happen as the unbelievers asked for a miracle. Then a reference is made to the attitude of the unbelievers and the horrible situation on the Day of Resurrection. It is then pointed out how many a nation of the past disbelieved and rejected the message of guidance delivered to them and how Allah's wrath and punishment befell them. This is interspersed with a call to be benefited by the teachings and guidance of the Qur'ân.

The sûrah is named al-Qamar (The Moon) with reference to the miracle of the splitting of the moon which is mentioned in its first 'âyah.

56. SÛRAT AL-WÂQI'AH (THE INEVITABLE EVENT)

Makkan: 96 'âyahs

This is a Makkan sûrah. Its main theme is the inevitability of the end of the universe, the Resurrection, Judgement, rewards and punishment. It starts with a reference to the terrible event of the end of the word and the Day of Resurrection and Judgement and then points out that the servants of Allah will on that Day be classified into three categories — those who will be given their records in their right hands, those who will be given their records in their left hands and the foremost and earliest in accepting Islam and in their faith and deeds. Mention is then made of the rewards and blissful life that await respectively the first and the last groups of people. Next a mention is made of the punishment and hard life in the hereafter of the second group, the unbelievers and the sinful. Then attention is drawn to Allah's creation of the universe and everything therein and His provision of the means of livelihood for His creatures, together with an emphasis on the fact that He Who created in the first instance can destroy and recreate at any time at will. The sûrah ends by stressing that this Qur'ân is sent down by Him and by once again mentioning the three categories into which His servants will be classified on the Day of Judgement.

The sûrah is named al-Wâqi'ah (The Inevitable Event) with reference to its first 'âyah which mentions this event.

57. SÛRAT AL-ḤADÎD (IRON)

Madinan: 29 'âyahs

This is a Madinan sûrah. It deals with three main themes. (a) It emphasizes that the whole universe is Allah's creation. He is the Absolute Owner, Manager and Disposer of everything as He will. (b) It is the duty of every believer to strengthen and hold high the dîn of Allah with his person and property. (c) It clearly points out that this worldly life is only a fleeting enjoyment and perishable and that therefore none should be deluded by it and thus fall into the error of disobeying Allah.

The sûrah starts by mentioning that everything in the heavens and the earth declares Allah's sanctity and glorifies Him. His is the Sovereignty over the heavens and the earth and He is the All-Powerful, the First without beginning and without any predecessor, and the Last and Everlasting without end, the Evident (Zâhir) through His signs all over the universe, yet the All-Intrinsic (Bâṭin) for none can see Him in this life and He is beyond the senses of His creatures. It then speaks about the three themes indicated above, together with a reference to the condition and characteristics of the believers and the hypocrites.

The sûrah is named al-Ḥadîd (Iron) with reference to its 'âyah 25 wherein mention is made of this metal which is one of Allah's special gifts and which is of immense importance and use to man.

58. SÛRAT AL-MUJÂDILAH (THE ARGUING LADY)

Madinan: 22 'ayahs

This is a Madinan sûrah which lays down a number of rules of sharî'ah . It starts by referring to the jâhilî custom of divorcing a wife by ẓihâr, i. e., by the husband's saying to his wife: "You are to me like the back (ẓahr) of my mother". The sûrah makes this bad custom unlawful and prescribes due atonement for divorcing by ẓihâr. The immediate occasion was the case of Khawlah bint Tha'labah (r. a.) whom her husband divorced by ẓihar. So she made a complaint against her husband to the Prophet, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, and as he made some argument with her she counter-argued with him and directed her complaint to Allah. The sûrah was then revealed. It is named al-Mujâdilah (The Arguing Lady) with reference to its first 'âyah which alludes to this incident.

Next the sûrah speaks about the practice of secret scheming and consultations, which the hypocrites and Jews used to indulge in for harming the Muslims. Then it refers to the practice of the Jews in addressing the Prophet, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, in equivocal and derogatory terms. This is followed by a disapproval of the conduct of the hypocrites' in taking the Jews and enemies of the Muslims as friends and allies. The sûrah ends by emphasizing that a true believer will not befriend an enemy of Allah and His Messenger, even if such persons were their fathers, sons or brothers.

59. SÛRAT AL-ḤASHR (THE GATHERING)

This is a Madinan sûrah. It starts with an emphasis that all that is in the heavens and the earth declare the sanctity and glory of Allah. Its main theme is the expulsion of the Jewish tribe of Banû al-Naḍîr from Madîna in 4 H. because of their treachery, breach of the treaty with them and their conspiracy with the hypocrites and others for destroying the Muslims. They thought that their strong fortresses, their military strength and their secret alliance with the hypocrites who promised them help will protect them. But Allah frustrated all their calculations and machinations. In this connection the role of the hypocrites is mentioned and rules are laid down for the administration of booty. Reference is then made to the merits and distinctions of the "Emigarnts" (muhâjirun) and the "Helpers" ('anṣâr). The sûrah then draws attention to the Day of Judgement and it ends by menitoning some of the beautiful Names and Attibutes of Allah and by once again emphasizing that all that is in the heavens and the earth declare the sanctity and glory of Allah.

The sûrah is named al-Hashr (The Gathering) with reference to its second 'âyah which mentions the coming of the unbelieving Jews of Banû al-Naḍîr out of their fortresses at the first gathering of them for their expulsion.

Its main theme is that love, friendship or hatred should be only for the sake of Allah and His dîn and that no friendship and alliance should be made with the enemies of Allah and His dîn. In this connection it is reminded that on the Day of Judgement neither worldly friendship nor blood relationships will be of any avail to man. It is also pointed out that the best model is Prophet Ibrâhîm, peace be on him, and his believing followers who completely severed their connection with their polytheist kinsmen and relatives for the sake of the dîn. The sûrah is named al-Mumtaḥanah (The woman to be examined) with reference to its 'âyahs 10-12 wherein it is asked to test the faith of the women who migrated from Makka to Madina shortly before its conquest, to take their oaths of allegiace and not to force them to return to their unbelieving husbands at Makka. The problems arising out of the new situation are dealt with and rules are laid down to deal with them.

61. SÛRAT AL-ṢAFF (THE ROW)

Madinan: 14 'âyahs

This is a Madinan sûrah. Its main theme is jihâd and fighting for the cause and defence of Allah's dîn and making sacrifices for its sake. The sûrah starts by emphasizing that all that is in the heavens and the earth declare the sanctity and glory of Allah. It then warns the believers against breach of promises. Next its is stated in 'âyah 4 that Allah loves those who wage jihâd in His cause in a row (saff) as if they are a solid structure. The sûrah is named al-ṣaff (The Row) with reference to this 'âyah. In this context reference is made to the dealings of the Jews with Prophets Mûsâ and 'Îsâ, peace be on them; and it is specifically mentioned that their scriptures contained the prophecy about the coming of the Prophet Muhammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him. The sûrah ends by one once again pointing out that to take part in jihâd in the cause of Allah is the most profitable trade that a believer can make.

Madinan: 11 'âyahs

This is a Madinan sûrah. Its main theme is the Friday congregational prayer. It starts by stating that all that is in the heavens and the earth declare the sanctity and glory of Allah. Next it mentions the risâlah of Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, for teaching men the Qur'ân and the rules of sharî'ah (ḥikmah). Reference is then made to the Jews who, though they were given a scripture which they carry, do not benefit from it by rightly following its teachings but think themselves to be the favoured ones of Allah. It is stressed that they shall be taken back to Allah and asked to account for their conduct and deeds. Finally in its 'âyahs 9-11 the believers are called upon to hasten to the Friday congregational prayer as soon as the call to it is made, and all types of business and worldly transactions are prohibited after that till the completion of the prayer. The sûrah is named after these concluding 'âyahs.

Madinan: 11 'âyahs

This is a Madinan sûrah. As its name indicates, it deals with the character and conduct of the hypocrites (Munâfiqûn) who outwardly professed Islam but in their heart of hearts were opposed to it and secretly conspired to destroy Islam and the Muslims. They used their profession of Islam as a shield and then did all that they could to prevent people from accepting Islam, discouraged financial help to the Muslims and conspired to oust the Muslims and the Prophet, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, from Madina. Their plans and manoeuvres are clearly exposed in the sûrah. It ends by reminding the Muslims not to be lured by wealth and children from the remembrance of Allah and to spend in the way of Allah before death overtakes them.

This is an early Madinan sûrah which deals with the fundamentals of the faith, particularly risâlah, i. e., Allah's having sent His Messnegers for the guidance of man, and Resurrection and the Day of Judgment. It draws attention to the fate of the previous peoples who disbelieved and were in consequence punished. It calls upon man to believe in Allah and to obey Him and His Messenger, and emphasies that those who believe and do the good deeds shall have their rewards on the Day of Judgement and those who disbleive and disobey Allah's commandments will have due punishment. It further calls upon the bleievers to spend in the way of Allah and not to be diverted by families and children from the remebrance of Allah. The sûrah is named al-Taghâbun (Mutual gain and loss) with reference to its 'âayah 9 which speaks about the day of Resrrection and which is called yawm al-taghâbun (the day of mutual gain and loss) because some people will gain and some people will lose on that day.

This is an early Makkan sûrah which brings home the theme of risâlah or Messengership of Muhammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, and the truth of the Qur'ân. It also deals with the attitude of the unbelievers to these two matters and illustrates their position by the instance of the owners of a garden which was destroyed because of their unbelief and disregard of Allah. It also points out that punishment for the unbelievers will be more severe in the hereafter while the believers and the righteous will be blessed with the paradise of bliss. The sûrah also asks the Prophet, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, to go on preaching the truth disregarding the opposition and ridicule of the unbelievers.

The sûrah is named al-Qalam (The Pen) with reference to its first 'âyah wherein Allah swears by the pen to emphasize that the Prophet, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, is not one gone off his head as the unbelievers alleged.

69. SÛRAT AL-ḤÂQQAH (THE INEVITABLE)

Makkan: 52 'âyahs

This is a Makkan sûrah which deals with the fundamentals of the faith. Its main emphasis is on three things : the truth of the risâlah i. e., Messengership of Muhammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, the truth of the Qur'ân as a Book sent down by Allah and the inevitability of Resurrection, Judgement, reward and punishment. These themes are brought home by drawing attention to the fate of the previous nations like the 'Âd, the Thamûd and others who disbelieved their respective Messengers and in the truth of Resurrection and Judgement and were destroyed on account of their unbelief and disobedience to Allah. Mention is then made of the horrors and circumstances of the end of the world and the Resurrection together with a reference to the sufferings and punishment of the sinful in the hereafter and, in contrast, of the reward and blissful life of the faithful and the righteous. The sûrah ends by once again emphasizing that the Qur'ân is sent down by Allah, that it is neither a poet's composition nor a soothsayer's utterance, as the unbelievers allege, and further that if the Prophet, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, had himself made up anything and given it out as the Qur'ân, he would have been severely punished by Allah and none could have saved him from His wrath.

The sûrah is named al-Hâqqah (The Inevitable), i. e., the Resurrection, with reference to its first 'âyah which draws attention to it.

This is a Makkan sûrah which, like the other Makkan sûrahs, deals with the fundamentals of the faith. Its main themes are risâlah and tawḥîd (monotheism). It points out that Allah has communicated the same message of tawḥîd through all His Messengers, and this is illustrated by mentioning how He has created everything and has provided for His creatures and how Prophet Nûh, peace be on him, struggled to bring his people to the right path, how ultimately Allah's punishment befell his unbelieving and disobedient people and how He saved the believers and His Messenger. The sûrah is named Nûḥ after its first 'âyah and the story of this Prophet which is dealt with in greater detail in it.

72. SÛRAT AL-JINN (THE JINN)

Makkan: 28 'âyahs

This is a Makkan sûrah. It deals with the fundamentals of the faith, namely, tawḥîd (monotheism), risâlah, i. e., Messengership of Muhammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, Resurrection, Judgement, reward and punishment. These themes are brought home by a reference to the incident, mentioned in its first 'âyah, of a group of jinn's listening to the recitation of the Qur'ân by the Prophet, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, and their having believed and their preaching the message of tawḥid to the other jinn so some of them became Muslims while others did not. The sûrah is named after this fact. In this connection mention is made of the folly of attributing a son or a wife to Allah. It is also mentioned that the higher heavens are protected by Allah by means of stern guards and flaming fires. It is further stressed that Allah does not have any partner, that He Alone is to be worshipped, that the duty of the Messenger, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, is to convey the message and that whoever disobeys Allah and His Messenger for him will be the fire of hell wherein he shall dwell for ever.

The Prophet, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, is asked to get up and to engage himself in prayers at night and to have patience over the unbelievers' opposition and ridicule. It is emphasized that Allah is the Lord of the east and west, there is no deity except He ('âyah 9); that on the day of Resurrection the earth and the mountains will be in violent commotion and the sky will be cleft asunder ('âyahs 14 and 18), that a Messenger (i. e., Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him) has been sent to be a witness over you ('âyah 15) and that if you disbelieve you shall not be able to protect yourself on the day of which the horrors will make the children grey-headed ('âyah 17) and that this Qur'ân is a reminder ('âyah 19).

It asks the Prophet to get up and preach the message of tawḥîd and warn about the Day of Resurrection and Judgement, disregarding the opposition and ridicule of the unbelieving leaders of Makka to whom pointed allusions are made. It also emphasizes the doctrine of individual accountability on the Day of Judgement: "Every individual is responsible for what he earns" ('âyah 38); and mentions that the righteous will have a blissful life in paradise while the unbelievers and sinful will suffer in hell. It ends by drawing attention to the life in the hereafter and by once again stressing that this Qur'ân is a reminder ('âyah 54).

75. SÛRAT AL-QIYÂMAH (THE RESURRECTION)
Makkan: 40 'âyahs

This is a Makkan sûrah. Its main themes are the Resurrection, Judgement, reward and punishment, together with the theme of waḥy. Its first fifteen 'âyahs describe the inevitability of the Resurrection and the circumstances and horrors that will attend its occurrence. Next in its 'âyahs 16-18 a reference is made to the receipt of the Qur'ânic waḥy by the Prophet, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, and how he used to move his tongue to repeat the recitation of the Qur'ân made to him by the angel Jibril. He is asked not to do so and is assured that Allah will enable him to remember what was delivered to him. These 'âyahs very clearly show that what was communicated to the Prophet, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, was in the form of texts, not thoughts or ideas. The remaining 'âyahs resume the themes of death and Resurrection, pointing out that on the Day of Judgement the servants of Allah will be divided into two groups, one fortunate and happy, having a view of their Lord, and the other unfortunate and unhappy, awaiting the punishment for their deeds.

The sûrah is named al-Qiyâmah (The Resurrection) with reference to its first 'âyah and its main theme.

78. SÛRAT AL-NABÂ' (THE NEWS)

Makkan: 40 'âyahs

It is an early Makkan sûrah. Its main themes are tawḥîd (monotheism), Resurrection, Judgement, reward and punishment in the hereafter. It starts by calling attention to the Qur'ân and the Resurrection which is termed "the Great News", al-Nabâ' al-Ażîm, because it appeared as a new and unheard-of thing to the unbelievers who started asking one another about it and expressed their surprise and ridicule at it. The sûrah is named after these initial 'âyahs and the main theme. It then draws attention to Allah's power in creating the earth, the heaven, the sun, the moon, male and female, day and night, sleep and wakefulness, clouds and rains, plants and corns and everything else by way of emphasizing His Lordship (rubûbiyyah) and that He can recreate and resurrect at will. It then points out that the Day of Judgement is an appointed time (mîqât, 'âyah 17) when the trumpet will be blown and all will be resurrected and gathered for Judgement. Then mention is made of the punishment that awaits the unbelievers and transgressors and the rewards that will be given to the righteous and believers. The sûrah ends by reminding all that on the Day of Judgement none will have power to speak out except the one whom Allah will give permission to do so and that the unbelievers will wish that they had better remained reduced into dust.

79. SÛRAT AL-NÂZI'ÂT (THE DIVESTERS)

Makkan: 46 'âyahs

This is also an early Makkan sûrah and, like the previous sûrah, its main themes are monotheism (tawḥîd), the Messengership (risâlah) of Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him, the Resurrection, Judgement, reward and punishment in the hereafter. It is named after its first 'âyah wherein Allah swears by those agnels who take away the lives of Allah's creatures by Allah's command. It then refers to the Reusrrection and the situation on that day of those who diebelieve in it and to their doubts about it. Then it is pointed that there will be only a single blast and all will be resurrected. Next a reference is made to how Fir'awn disbelieved and disobeyed the Messenger of Allah, Mûsâ, peace be on him, and how Allah punished him and his followers. This is done by way of reminding the unbelievers of the consequences of disbeliving and rejecting the message and the guidance delivered by the Messenger Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him. The sûrah ends by once again drawing attention to the Day of Resurrection and the rewards and punishments that await respectively the believers and the unbelievers.

80. SÛRAT 'ABASA (HE FROWNED)

Makkan: 42 'âyahs

It is an early Makkan sûrah which deals with the themes of tawḥîd (monotheism), risâlah (Messengership of Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him), the Qur'ân and the Resurrection. It starts with Allah's affectionate reproof of His Messenger as he frowned at a blind man ('Abd Allah ibn 'Umm Maktum) who approached him for guidance when he was busy in speaking about his mission to a number of leading men of Makka. The sûrah is named 'Abasa (He frowned) with reference to this first 'âyah of it. The sûrah then points out that this Qur'ân is noble and exalted and that it has been delivered by a dutiful and upright angel messenger. Next the theme of Allah as the Sole and Only Creator and Lord (tawḥîd al-rubûbîyah) is brought home by drawing attention to His having created man and every being and thing and His having made all the provisions for His creatures' livelihood and well-being. It is also pointed out that He causes them to die and that He will resurrect them when He wills. The sûrah ends by once again drawing attention to the Resurrection and by pointing out that on that day a man will be so engrossed in his own affair that he will flee even from his sons, wife, parents and brothers.

The sûrah is named after this initial 'âyah. It then emphasizes the risâlah and points out that the Qur'ân was delivered by the noble angel messenger Jibrîl ('âyahs 19-21). Finally it is emphasized that the Qur'ân is a reminder (dhikr) for all beings calling them to the straight path.

Makkan: 19 'âyahs

This is an early Makkan sûrah and like its previous sûrah deals with the themes of the Resurrection, Judgement, reward and punishment in the hereafter. It starts by drawing attention to the terrible events that will herald the Day of Resurrection, mentioning first the cleaving asunder of the sky (al-Infiṭar). The sûrah is named after this first 'âyah. Next it points out how man is deceived about Allah in spite of the fact that He creates him and gives him form and shape. He is then reminded that he cannot escape by disbelieving in the Day of Judgement; for over each individual are appointed angel watchers to keep a record of his deeds and that the righteous shall in the hereafter be in a blissful life while the sinful unbelievers will be in hell. It ends by reminding that on the Day of Judgement none will have any power whatsoever and that the command will be Allah's Alone.

Makkan: 23 'âyahs

This is a Makkan sûrah. Its main themes are the Qur'ân, the risâlah (Messengership of Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him), Judgement, rewards and punishment, and the opposition and enmity of the unbelievers to these. It refers to an instance of persecution upon the believers by their unbelieving tyrants in the past. Those believers were thrown into a trench filled with fire and were thus killed because they refused to recant and return to unbelief. This is cited as an encouragement to the Muslims to bear with patience the opposition and enmity of the unbelievers, and as a threat to the latter of Allah's due punishment for them, recalling the instances of punishment of the unbelieving Thamûd people and the hosts of Fir'awn. It also mentions the ultimate rewards and punishments in the hereafter respectively for the righteous and the sinful. The sûrah ends by emphasizing that the Qur'ân is a guidance given by Allah and that it is preserved in al-Lawḥ al-Maḥfûẓ.

The sûrah is named after its first 'âyah wherein Allah swears by the sky possessing constellations (al-burûz).

89. SÛRAT AL-FAJR (THE DAYBREAK)

Makkan: 30 'âyahs

This is a Makkan sûrah which deals with three matters. It first alludes to the risâla (Messengership of Muḥammad, peace and blessings of Allah be on him) and the opposition and enmity of the unbelievers by mentioning the fate of the three powerful peoples of the past, the 'Âd, the Thamûd and Fir'awn and his hosts, all of whom were signally punished for their rejection of the trutth and the Messengers sent respectively to them. Then the sûrah speaks about man's engrossment with wealth and property, given by Allah to test him, and his neglect of his duty to the orphan and the poor and his unlawful arrogation to himself of the shares of his co-inheritors. Finally it reminds man of his ultimate accountability to Allah on the Day of Resurrection and Judgement and the reward or punishment that awaits him.

The sûrah is named al-Fajr (The Daybreak) with reference to its first 'âyah wherein Allah swears by it.

وَٱلْفَجْرِ ﴿١﴾ 1. By the daybreak.[1]

وَلَيَالٍ عَشْرٍ ﴿٢﴾ 2. By the ten nights.[2]

6. i. e., an oath to convince. قسم qasam (s.; pl. 'aqsâm) = oath.

7. The conclusion of the oaths is kept silent. It is that Allah shall duly punish the unbelievers and opponents of the Messengers sent to them. Such ones shall be dwellers of paradise in the hereafter while the unbelievers will abide in the fire of hell. It is stated that this was not at all so. He is also reminded of Allah's past favours on him and is encouraged to carry on his mission and work and is assured of ultimate success and happiness.

The sûrah is named after the first 'âyah in which Allah swears by the forenoon (al-Ḍuḥâ) and the night.

A Word for Word Meaning of the Qur'ân places one or a couple of words of the 'âyah in one line of a column and gives their meanings side by side in another column, taking care to see that the flow and intelligibility of the English meanings are not thereby lost. This method enables the reader to identify which English words or phrases represent the meaning of which words in the Arabic text. It has the additional advantage of keeping the meaning strictly to the wording of the text and it militates against omitting the meaning of any word of the text or importing in the meaning any word or expression that has no correspondence with anything in the text.

To further facilitate the understanding of the text, the meanings of almost all important words in the text have been given separately. To do this a number has been placed on the English word which represents the meaning of the particular word in the text and then the meanings of that word have been given under that number in another column by the side of the general meaning of the text. The numbering has been kept individual for each page. Also grammatical notes, particularly verb forms and verbal nouns, have been given as far as possible. As the words recur at different pages, so their meanings and grammatical notes also have been repeated, giving cross reference to at least one previous occurrence of the word, indicating the page on which and the number under which the word has been explained before. The aim has been to enable a non-Arab reader to understand the Qur'ân as well as to improve his knowledge of Arabic, particularly the Qur'ânic Arabic.
